

Frederick Douglass - Agitator

Frederick Douglass was a relentless advocate for change and constantly challenged the status quo in American society through his writing and speeches. Everyone who seeks change faces obstacles they must overcome. Using what you learned navigating through the Douglass exhibit page, address the questions below:

Power: How do you see power gained, used, and justified?	Challenge: How do you challenge your status quo, and how have you been challenged?
Inclusion: How can you include others in your struggle to bring change?	Agitation: How can you become a changemaker?

Mention a quote from the provided on the Douglass exhibit page that you think is relevant even in today's social environment and explain why it's relevant.

Frederick Douglass did not have a traditional education but through his written words and speeches had a lot of literary influence. How do you think traditional reading/writing influences writing styles?
