Lesson 12: In Their Words
Objectives

Students will analyze a variety of texts by Black authors to craft a multimedia visual display that communicates what justice is and what it looks like.
Community Agreements

- Review the classroom agreements.
- Ask students to choose one agreement they would like to focus on for today’s lesson.
Learning Experience

Check-in: Option to use

- Think about a time you experienced

- Students can respond to
Learning Experience

- Review the 3 major goals of this unit.
- This lesson will focus on the second goal:
  - To build understanding of
  - We can learn about
Learning Experience

Review the objective of today’s lesson:
- Analyze a variety of texts by Black authors to craft a multimedia visual display that communicates what justice is and what it looks like.
Learning Experience

Warm Up: Justice means...

- Students will work in pairs or small groups to finish the statement: Justice means...

- [Additional content partially visible]
Learning Experience

Think-Ink-Pair-Share

- Post this question for students:
- Give students a few minutes to respond to
- Then, have students
Learning Experience

- Restate the lesson title: In Their Words
- Share the following key ideas:
  - To learn about
  - Today’s lesson will explore a variety of texts written
  - As students read the texts, they should
Learning Experience

Texts for this lesson

- Learning to Read by Frances Ellen Watkins Harper
- Letter from Birmingham Jail By Dr. Martin Luther King
Learning Experience

Text Talk and Reading Circles

- Share a preview of each of the texts students can choose to read
- Students will work
- Students should be prepared to share
Learning Experience

Whole Group Discussion

- Have one student from each group share
Learning Experience

Create!

● Using what they learned about

● Students can choose to

● Students may use
Closing

Debrief & Reflection:
- Options for sharing student work:
  - [checklist items]
- Have students complete a brief reflection on
For Next Time...

In the next lesson, students will analyze and discuss